

British Admiral To Be Feted Here

By EVELYN M. DENT

Time was when "all roads lead to Rome" summed up the travel situation. Nowadays the trend seems to be to Washington. Particularly for those of the Armed Services.

Admiral Sir William Davis, K.C.B., D.S.O., Commander-in-Chief of the Home Fleet, British Royal Navy, arrived yesterday on a three-day informal visit. He rejoins his Flagship, and the Home Fleet at Bermuda, on Tuesday.

The head of the British Navy Staff, Vice Admiral Robert F. Elkins, and Mrs. Elkins are giving a reception at home tomorrow at 6 p.m. in honor of their fellow countryman.

That same evening the Chief of Naval Operations, Admiral Arleigh A. Burke and Mrs. Burke will be hosts at dinner, entertaining at Admiral House in honor of Sir William.

The Chairman of the British Joint Services Mission, Sir Michael Denny and Lady Denny have as their house guest Rear Admiral John G. T. Inglis, director of Naval Intelligence, Royal Navy.

Another British Visitor

Admiral Inglis arrived on Saturday from the United Kingdom and is expected to be in this country for about two weeks. Last evening he was the dinner guest of Vice Admiral and Mrs. Elkins in their home on Primrose street, Chevy Chase.

Sir Michael and Lady Denny have sent out invitations for a reception in honor of Admiral Inglis in their delightful Kalorama road home on Tuesday, March 11.

The house, one of Washington's near-perfect residences, has been bought by the British armed forces to house the chairman of its Joint Missions. Lady Denny has done much to further enhance the livability of the mansion.

The Director of Naval Intelligence, Rear Admiral Laurence Hugh Frost, and Mrs. Frost are entertaining for Admiral Inglis on Thursday, March 13, when they will be hosts at dinner in their home.

Retired Rear Admiral and Mrs. Thomas Joseph Kelly are giving a dinner tomorrow evening. Sir Michael and Lady Denny with their houseguest will be among the guests.

Admiral Inglis leaves mid-week for Norfolk, Va., and a tour of the Naval Base. While there he will undoubtedly be the guest of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Wilfred J. W. Woods.

German Minister Due

The German Minister of Defense Joseph Strauss, when he arrives tomorrow will find the hours well filled during his stay. On Tuesday, German Charge d'Affaires Albrecht von Kessel will give a stag luncheon for him. In the afternoon from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., Mr. von Kessel has planned a reception at 1900 Foxhall road for the distinguished visitor.

The Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Thomas D. White and Mrs. White have sent out invitations for a dinner on Wednesday, March 12, at the Officers Club, Bolling Air Force Base.

The Naval Attache of Mexico Rear Admiral Antonio J. Aznar, and Senora de Aznar will be hosts at dinner next Saturday at their home.

The Chief of Naval Personnel Vice Admiral Harold Page Smith and Mrs. Smith are to be the honor guests at a small party this afternoon at the home of Rear Admiral and Mrs. G. Serpell Patrick.

Admiral Patrick goes on leave in a few days prior to taking up new duties as commander of a cruiser division in the Pacific. He and Mrs. Patrick plan to spend the leave at home.

Their daughter Miss Jane Patrick graduates this spring from Holton-Arms, after which she and her mother will travel to Long Beach, Calif., where they will make their home while the Admiral is at sea.

The Assistant Army Quartermaster General, Maj. Gen. Hugh Mackintosh and Mrs. Mackintosh have issued invitations for a buffet supper next Saturday in their new apartment at the Wyoming.

Mrs. Mackintosh, sr., has given up her home in Brocton, Mass., to come and stay with her son and daughter-in-law and she is sure to find many friends among the company next Saturday.

The Army Assistant Comptroller, Maj. Gen. James B. Quill, and Mrs. Quill are giving a small 6-to-8 p.m. party at home this afternoon.

100 Nights at West Point

The Deputy Director Central Intelligence, Lt. Gen. Charles Pearre Cabell, and Mrs. Cabell are joining the many who will go to West Point for the 100 night celebration next week end.

West Point Cadets who will be graduated in June celebrate the fact that there are just 100 nights until graduation and put on a show Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Cadet Charles, Jr., has a leading part in the event.

Also in the Cabell party will be Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Donald Dunford, Mrs. Cabell's brother-in-law and sister, Katie Cabell will also accompany her parents together with Connie McGoodwin. The young people will attend the dance next Saturday. The Washington contingent will make Thayer Hall their headquarters.

The British Supply Mission's popular Brigadier Ralph H. Farrant and Mrs. Farrant are leaving for England in about two weeks. Their daughter Patricia has already left to resume her studies at Oxford University. Diana Farrant is on Wall Street, New York and will join them later.

Meanwhile the Farrants are being much feted. They will give a farewell party themselves on Tuesday March 11 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at home and will introduce Brigadier Farrant's successor, Brigadier David Lindsay.

Brigadier and Mrs. Lindsay arrive next Sunday from the United Kingdom and will stay at the Graylyn Hotel until they find a house.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth F. DeAtley are giving a small informal dinner tomorrow evening at home for the Farrants. Col. Sir Frederick and Lady Coates are entertaining for the popular British couple on Wednesday in their home in Arlington.
